USE OF TENSES

ORAL LANGUAGE

Conversation (Speaking)

INTRODUCTION

Dear learner, you are warmly welcome to this section of the Intervention English lesson. In the previous section, you learned about the varied meanings of the same words or familiar words and how to use them correctly in speech and writing. Also, you learned how word context, grammatical role, structure, location, field or subject-specific knowledge, formality, synonyms and antonyms contribute to meaning. In this section, you are going to learn about the correct use of words and tenses in speech. This lesson will look at verbs in relation to tenses and aspects. These are basic grammatical parts or features that enhance good communication and fluency. It is important to know that verbs are compulsory parts in the formation of sentences or in speeches. The correct use of tenses and aspects of verbs will help build your confidence in speaking. You are encouraged to follow the lesson carefully, do all the activities in the lesson and practise more at your own pace to improve your English language proficiency.

By the end of the lesson, you as the student will be able to;

Use Words And Tenses Correctly When Speaking

Key Ideas:

- Tense refers to the time at which an event or an action or a condition (indicated by the verb) takes place or occurs.
- Aspect measures the duration or length of time an action or an event or a condition covers.
- Verb is a word that describes an action, an occurrence, or a state of being.
- Regular verb is a verb that forms its simple past and past participle by adding the suffix ‘-ed’ or ‘d’ to the main verb.
- Irregular verb is a verb that forms its simple past and past participle in some way other than by adding the suffix ‘-ed’ or ‘d’ to the main verb.

CORRECT USE OF TENSES

The Three Main Tenses

In our everyday conversations, we use verbs in many ways to describe or talk about our actions and conditions. The actions and conditions we talk about are expressed by tenses or time. Therefore, a tense shows the time in which an action or a condition takes place. That is, we may express our ideas in relation to what happened in the past, what happens now and what will happen in the future or later. This means a tense has three main areas or domains which are the simple present tense, simple past tense and the simple future tense. This is to say that ideas, feelings, actions, and emotions are expressed in the simple present tense, the simple past tense and the simple future tense. The illustration below will help you understand the grouping of tenses.

Fig 4.1: Grouping of tenses

Here are some sentences to help you learn about the tense of a verb. (Read them aloud)

Simple Past Tense	Simple Present Tense	Simple Future Tense
Dzifa was an intelligent lawyer.	Dzifa is an intelligent lawyer.	Dzifa shall be an intelligent lawyer.
Tetteh and Afiba were nurses.	Tetteh and Afiba are nurses.	Tetteh and Afiba will be nurses.
The boys cooked well.	The boys cook well.	The boys shall cook well.

Simple Past Tense	Simple Present Tense	Simple Future Tense
They played good football.	They play good football.	They will play good football.
The teacher taught us reading.	The teacher teaches us reading.	The teacher will teach us reading.
The tables were in the class.	The tables are in the class.	The tables will be in the class.
The headteacher loved us.	The headteacher loves us.	The headteacher will love us.
Ghanaian people were tolerant	Ghanaian people are tolerant	Ghanaian people will be tolerant.
We celebrated our fathers.	We celebrate our fathers.	We shall celebrate our fathers.
Every child had right to education.	Every child has right to education.	Every child shall have right to education

Activity 5.1

1. Underline the verb in the sentences below.
 - a. I played all night.
 - b. We went for a walk in the moonlight.
 - c. I will see you tomorrow.
 - d. They shop at my mother's shop.
 - e. We shall go for sightseeing.

You have done well! Now, let us learn how the three tenses are used.

Simple Present Tense: The Present tense is used to describe or speak about an action or a condition which happens always. For example, see how the present tense can help you answer some questions in the box. Focus on the tense of the verbs underlined.

What is your name? My name is Nasara.

How old are you? I am eleven years old.

Who cooks your food? My father cooks my food.

What is your best subject? My best subject is Mathematics.

Who disciplines you at home? My mother disciplines me at home.

Any time you are asked questions, pay attention to the tenses. This will help you answer the questions correctly. Here are other examples on how the simple present tense is used.

1. Tijani is here today.
2. They come to school together.
3. The teacher sees us at the library.
4. I brush my teeth.
5. They wash their clothes.
6. The boys cook this week.

The tense of the verbs is, come, sees, brush, wash and cook shows that the things talked about are in the simple present tense. You can read the sentences again. Tell a classmate what you do at home always. Pay attention to the choice of tenses of your verbs. Good!

Simple Past Tense: The simple past tense is used for action that started in the past and at the time of speaking is completed. That is, we use the simple past tense to speak about something that happened in the past. For example, look at how the questions in the box below are answered. Pay attention to the underlined tenses.

What was your name? My name was Nasara.

How old were you? I was eleven years old.

Who cooked your food? My father cooked my food.

What was your best subject? My best subject was Mathematics.

Who disciplined you at home? My mother disciplined me at home.

The underlined tenses are all in the past. This shows that all the things happened in the past. Read the sentences below and study the underlined tenses.

1. Tijani was here yesterday.
2. They came to school together.
3. The teacher saw us at the library.
4. I brushed my teeth.
5. They washed their clothes.
6. The boys cooked last week.

From the sentences, the tense of the verbs was, came, saw, brushed, washed and cooked shows that the things talked about happened in the past. Use the simple past tense when you want to tell your parents what happened when they were not home. Now, tell a classmate what you saw on your way to school. Always pay attention to your tenses. Great!

Simple Future Tense: The simple future tense is used to describe or talk about actions or conditions that is yet to happen. The simple future tense is normally used together with will or shall. Look at how the simple future tense can help you answer the questions in the box. Focus on the underlined tenses in the questions and the answers.

What will be your name? My name will be Nasara.

How old will you be tomorrow? I will be eleven years old tomorrow.

Who shall cook your food? My father shall cook my food.

What will be your best subject? My best subject will be Mathematics.

Who shall discipline you at home? My mother shall discipline me at home.

Look at other examples of the simple future tense in the following sentences. Pay attention to the underlined words or verbs.

1. Tijani will be here tomorrow.
2. They shall come to school together.
3. The teacher will see us at the library.
4. I will brush my teeth.
5. They shall wash their clothes.
6. The boys will cook next week.

The tenses will be, shall come, will see, will brush, shall wash and will cook are all showing that the things talked about in the sentence will happen in the future. The simple future tense tells you about the things that will occur later. Discuss with your classmate or sibling what you will do when you finish school. Remember to use the simple future tense in your conversation.

Beautiful!

Now that you have studied the three main tenses (simple present tense, simple past tense and simple future tense), it is time to assess yourself on your progress. Perform the activity that follows.

Activity 5.2

Study and rewrite the sentences provided in the other tenses indicated.

1.

a) Simple Present Tense: The star shines.

b) Simple Past Tense: _____

c) Simple Future Tense: _____

2.

a) Simple Present Tense: They break the school rules.

b) Simple Past Tense: _____

c) Simple Future Tense: _____

Congratulations!

We are going to learn about the aspects or durations or lengths of the tenses (simple present tense and simple past tense). But first, let us look at the behaviour of verbs (regular and irregular verbs) in relation to the tenses (most especially the formation of the simple past tense and the past participle) to help us better understand the lesson.

Regular and Irregular Verbs

Have you wondered why the simple past tense of the verb 'cook' is cooked but the simple past tense of the verb 'sweep' is swept and not sweeped? To use tenses correctly, you have to learn that some verbs are regular (example: cook, play, kick, pack, play, dance) and others are irregular (example: sweep, sing, run, write, shine, break). The regular verbs form their simple past tense by adding -ed or -d or -ied to the main verb (cook +ed = cooked). The irregular verbs form their simple past tense by some changes in the vowel sounds of the main verb and add other related sounds (sweep = swept). I hope you remember vowel sounds? (Refer to Section 1). Let us demonstrate this with a table.

SOME REGULAR VERBS
S/N	Simple Present Tense	Simple Past Tense	Past Participle
	-s or +s/ies	+ed or +d or +ied	+ed or +d or +ied
1	cook/cooks	cooked	cooked
2	pray/prays	prayed	prayed
3	kick/kicks	kicked	kicked
4	play/plays	played	played
5	dance/dances	danced	danced
6	pack/packs	packed	packed
7	save/saves	saved	saved
8	stop/stops	stopped	stopped
9	study/studies	studied	studied
10	bake/bakes	baked	baked
11	bury/buries	buried	buried
12	work/works	worked	worked

SOME IRREGULAR VERB
S/N	Present Tense	Past Tense	Past Participle
1	sweep/sweeps	swept	swept
2	sing/sings	sang	sung
3	run/runs	ran	run
4	write/writes	wrote	written
5	shine/shines	shone	shone
6	break/breaks	broke	broken
7	grow/grows	grew	grown
8	bite/bites	bit	bitten
9	buy/buys	bought	bought
10	forget/forgets	forgot	forgotten
11	steal/steals	stole	stolen
12	begin/begins	began	begun

Study the verbs in the table well to understand how verbs behave. You have seen that the simple present tense is used with 's' or without 's'. When a simple present tense has 's', it means singular or the tense describes one thing only. But when the simple present tense is used without 's', it makes it plural or it means it describes more than one thing. Read the sentences below and look at the verbs underlined and things they talk about.

1. Ahmed comes from Abetifi. (one person - Ahmed).
2. Ahmed and Sadia come from the Abetifi. (two people- Ahmed and Sadia)
3. The boys sing well. (more than one- boys)
4. The girl sings well. (one person- girl)
5. She sells mangoes. (one person- she)
6. The men sell salt at the market. (more than one person- men)

Activity 5.3

Change the following verbs from the simple present tense to the simple past tense and the past participle tense.

Simple Present Tense	Simple Past Tense	Past Participle Tense
1. cry
2. ring
3. paint
4. laugh
5. rise
6. take

Good job! Practise more with your friends in school or at home. Now that you have learned how the simple past tense and the past participle of verbs are formed, let us look at the aspect of tense.

The Tense- Aspect (Simple Present Tense and Simple Past Tense)

The tense aspect is the duration of an event within a particular tense. Therefore, the tense aspect measures how long an event takes place. For example, the English Language lesson covers a duration of one hour before teaching comes to an end. Also, you cover a distance from the dormitory to the classroom each morning which covers a duration of walking. Let us express the various duration of the tense aspects of the simple present tense verb 'teach' (irregular) through some questions and answers and do the same thing for the simple past tense 'taught'. The tense aspects of the irregular verb 'teach' are all underlined in the responses or answers. Study them carefully.

Question: Response (Simple Present Tense Aspect):

What is the teacher doing? The teacher is teaching English.

What has the teacher done? The teacher has taught English.

What has the teacher been doing? The teacher has been teaching English.

Question: Response (Simple Past Tense Aspect):

What was the teacher doing? The teacher was teaching English.

What had the teacher done? The teacher had taught English.

What had the teacher been doing? The teacher had been teaching English.

From the responses, you can see that the simple present tense and the simple past tense have the following aspects:

Simple Present Tense Aspects

1. Present continuous- is teaching
2. Present Perfect- has taught
3. Present Perfect Continuous- has been teaching

Simple Past Tense Aspects

- Past Continuous- was teaching
- Past Perfect- had taught.
- Past Perfect Continuous- had been teaching

Activity 5.4

Demonstrate together with a friend the simple present tense and the simple past tense aspects of the verb 'sweep'. (Form the simple present tense aspects while your friend forms the simple past tense aspect- do it orally)

You: Simple Present Tense Aspects Your friend: Simple Past Tense Aspect

- | | |
|------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1. She is sweeping the room. | She was sweeping the room. |
| 2. _____ | _____ |
| 3. _____ | _____ |

Well done my friend!

You are now going to learn how these aspects of the tenses (simple present and simple past) we have just demonstrated are formed. Make sure you pay attention.

Formation of the Tense Aspects (Simple Present Tense and Simple Past Tense)

- a. Present Continuous: It is used for an action that started in the past and at the time of speaking the action is in progress or still going on. It is usually marked by a present auxiliary verb (such as am, is, are and the main verb ending + ing).

Example:

1. The boys are sweeping.
2. The girl is weeding.

- b. Past continuous: It is used to describe an action that happened over a particular period of time in the past. It is marked by a past auxiliary verb (such as was, were) + ing form of the main verb.

Example:

1. The boys were sweeping.
2. The girl was weeding.

- c. Present Perfect: It is used for an action that is already completed at the time you are speaking about it. It is marked by has/have plus (+) the past participle form of the main verb.

Example:

1. The boys have swept.
2. The girl has weeded.

- d. Past perfect: It is used to describe an event that happened in the past before another event in the past. It is marked by using had plus the past participle form of the main verb.

Example:

1. The boys had swept.
2. The girl had weeded.

- e. Present Perfect Continuous: It is used to show that an action started in the past and at the time of speaking, the action is still in progress. It is marked by has/have + been (has/ have been) plus (+) the ing form of the main verb.

Example:

1. The boys have been sweeping.
2. The girl has been weeding.

- f. Past Perfect Continuous: It is used to indicate that one action was completed before the other but the second action covers a period of time in the past. It is usually marked by had + been plus (+) the ing form of the main verb.

Example:

1. The boys had been sweeping.
2. The girl had been weeding.

Activity 5.1

Change the following simple present tense to the present perfect and the past perfect.

- a. They eat fruits before breakfast.
- b. Adiko loves pets.
- c. Children celebrate their parents.
- d. God gifts all children talents.
- e. We show respect to everyone.

Congratulation! Now let us practise more with the examples in the table.
